Since his first shop opened in Nottingham in 1970, Paul Smith Ltd has expanded to become a good example of British creativity, celebrated for its product design. This includes cars, stationery, textiles, rugs, cameras, and bicycles. The boutique shops, where vintage records and rare books sell alongside stripy socks and pinstriped suits, played a large part in producing sales revenue last year of £179m. As the Design Museum director Deyan Sudjic says, "Paul Smith has become the most successful British designer of the past 50 years."

Evidence F

Paul Smith Ltd.

Directors' report for the year ending 30 June 2012

Principal activities

The company's principal activity during the year was the design, supply, licensing, retail and wholesale of men's and women's clothing.

Results and dividends

The company's profit for the year after tax was £16 964 000 (2011 £18 289 000) Dividends of £4 587 000 have been paid in the year (2011 £309 000). 5

Review of business and future developments

The directors consider the result for the year to be satisfactory given the continuing challenges posed by the economic climate and the significant investments made by the group during the year. The company continued to grow total sales across the retail, wholesale and licensed businesses. 10

Wholesale sales increased year on year. The directors recognise the challenges facing many wholesale customers and expect this distribution channel to continue to be challenged in the coming year. The company has relocated to bigger premises in Paris, France, to further strengthen its representation in key European markets. Retail sales increased on a like for like basis. 15

The company will continue its strategy of shop openings in key markets where appropriate locations can be found. A new flagship shop in Albemarle Street in London will open in the forthcoming financial year.

Licensed income increased during the year with a notable improvement in revenues from Japan following the downturn in sales, which occurred after the tragedy of the earthquake in March 2011. 20

Following a significant investment in the new Head Office facilities in Nottingham, all office functions are now located on one site. Investment continues to be made on operational and financial systems to improve efficiency. In addition, further investment is planned on our internet infrastructure to support continued growth in sales. 25

Paul Smith Ltd plans fresh move into China

British fashion brand Paul Smith plans to open a 5,000 sq ft store in Shanghai as part of its second attempt to succeed in the Chinese market, five years after losses forced it to cease trading in that country in 2007.

Under a new five-year joint venture with Hong Kong-based ImagineX, Paul Smith Ltd will open 24 stores in the next five years. The first store will open in Tianjin in September 2012. ImagineX, a sister company of Hong Kong's Lane Crawford department store that specialises in introducing western brands to China, will run the operation as a franchise. 5
