General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Level	Mark	Descriptor
	0	No rewardable material.
Level 1	1-2	Isolated elements of knowledge and understanding – recall based. Weak or no relevant application to business examples. Generic assertions may be presented.
Level 2	3-5	Accurate knowledge and understanding. Applied accurately to the business and its context. Chains of reasoning are presented, showing cause(s) and/or effect(s) but may be assertions or incomplete. An attempt at an assessment is presented that is unbalanced and unlikely to show the significance of competing arguments.
Level 3	6-8	Accurate and thorough knowledge and understanding, supported throughout by relevant and effective use of the business behaviour/context. Logical chains of reasoning, showing cause(s) and/or effect(s). Assessment is balanced, well contextualised, using quantitative and/or qualitative information, and shows an awareness of competing arguments/factors.

Question	Indicative content
1(e)	Indicative content guidance Answers must be credited by using the level descriptors (below) in line with the general marking guidance. The indicative content below exemplifies some of the points that candidates may make but this does not imply that any of these must be included. Other relevant points must also be credited. Knowledge, Application, Analysis, Evaluation – indicative content <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Interest rates are the amount of interest due per period of time as a proportion of the amount deposited, lent or borrowed • The interest rate in Egypt rose from about 8% in 2010 to nearly 19% in 2018 • The Egyptian interest rate rose considerably from 2016 to 2018 • A rise in the interest rate would make the cost of borrowing more expensive and reduces the disposable income of Egyptian customers who have a loan, encouraging saving not spending • Although clothing is necessary, it is less likely to sell if Egyptian consumers have a reduced disposable income • In order to increase sales domestically, Lotus Garments Co. may need to borrow money to finance an advertising campaign to promote its goods or to conduct market research • Given the increasing interest rate, it is probably not a good time for Lotus Garments Co. to consider expanding sales domestically • However, Lotus Garments Co. exports the majority of its denim to the USA and so the customers would not be affected by the Egyptian interest rate • There is no information about how much or whether Lotus Garments Co. actually borrows money at the moment • As it can produce 26,000,000 items of clothing a year, Lotus Garments Co. is likely to be a large business which may not be affected greatly by interest rates • Lotus Garments Co. may have profits invested which could generate more income when the interest rate is high • It may depend on other economic influences such as the exchange rate. A high interest rate may encourage foreign investment meaning the value of the Egyptian currency (Egyptian pound) may rise, possibly leading to a fall in exports due to the price of jeans becoming more expensive • It depends whether the trend of rising/high interest rates continues and on other economic influences such as the rate of inflation or level of wages in Egypt

Level	Mark	Descriptor
	0	A completely inaccurate response.
Level 1	1-2	Isolated elements of knowledge and understanding – recall based. Weak or no relevant application to business examples. Generic assertions may be presented.
Level 2	3-4	Elements of knowledge and understanding, which are applied to the business example. Chains of reasoning are presented, but may be assertions or incomplete. A generic or superficial assessment is presented.
Level 3	5-7	Accurate and thorough knowledge and understanding, supported throughout by relevant and effective use of the business behaviour/context. Analytical perspectives are presented, with developed chains of reasoning, showing cause(s) and/or effect(s). An attempt at an assessment is presented, using quantitative and/or qualitative information, though unlikely to show the significance of competing arguments.
Level 4	8-10	Accurate and thorough knowledge and understanding, supported throughout by relevant and effective use of the business behaviour/context. A coherent and logical chain of reasoning, showing cause(s) and/or effect(s). Assessment is balanced, wide ranging and well contextualised, using quantitative and/or qualitative information and shows an awareness of competing arguments/factors, leading to a supported judgement.

External causes include exchange rates, interest rates and supplier problems • The hotel mainly failed due to internal causes: poor quality, poor marketing (negative reviews on social media) and overestimation of sales (thinking there would always be other tourists) • This means Stacey and Alexandra could aim to make sure they maintain high levels of quality (something they already do) as well as focus attention on keeping customers happy so they receive positive reviews and benefit from new and returning customers • Stacey and Alexandra review their ingredients annually. They also have positive attitudes and are prepared to work hard • Therefore, Soul Boul can make sure it does not experience the same causes of business failure as the hotel • However, one of the causes of failure for the hotel was external. There were three other hotels within 1 km, meaning competition was high in the area • Soul Boul is clearly successful and profitable, this may cause other businesses to set up in competition • Stacey may have been unaware of other causes of failure for the hotel, such as economic conditions at the time • Soul Boul cannot control the external causes of business failure such as competition or economic and market conditions and so it may still face problems even if it successfully avoids internal causes • Although Soul Boul cannot ensure it avoids all causes of business failure, it can do its best to avoid those it can control and prepare for those it cannot, therefore reducing the risk of becoming a failing business like the hotel

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • However, it takes time and money to set up and maintain a zero based budget, meaning it may be more costly for Kenya Airways to use • Kenya Airways has an excellent reputation for employment but this could be damaged if employees feel uncomfortable about being challenged for all costs incurred • As the airline has introduced a new direct route from Nairobi to the US, the focus for costs may fall here, rather than on other more long-term plans. This could be disadvantageous if it needs investment under a zero based budget • It depends whether the reason for making a loss in recent years has been dependent on costs being too high or on revenues being too low • As several factors affecting the costs of Kenya Airways have been outside of its control, it may not make a great deal of difference which type of budget is used

Level 1	1–4	Isolated elements of knowledge and understanding. Weak or no relevant application of business examples. An argument may be attempted, but will be generic and fail to connect causes and/or consequences.
Level 2	5–8	Elements of knowledge and understanding, which are applied to the business example. Arguments and chains of reasoning are presented but connections between causes and/or consequences are incomplete. Attempts to address the question. A comparison or judgement may be attempted but it will not successfully show an awareness of the key features of business behaviour or business situation.
Level 3	9–14	Accurate and thorough knowledge and understanding, supported throughout by relevant and effective use of the business behaviour/context. Uses developed chains of reasoning, so that causes and/or consequences are complete, showing an understanding of the question. Arguments are well developed. Quantitative and/or qualitative information is introduced in an attempt to support judgements, a partial awareness of the validity and/or significance of competing arguments and may lead to a conclusion.
Level 4	15–20	Accurate and thorough knowledge and understanding, supported throughout by relevant and effective use of the business behaviour/context. Uses well-developed and logical, coherent chains of reasoning, showing a range of cause and/or effect(s). Arguments are fully developed. Quantitative and/or qualitative information is/are used well to support judgements. A full awareness of the validity and significance of competing arguments/factors, leading to balanced comparisons, judgements and an effective conclusion that proposes a solution and/or recommendations.
